What is Lina energy?

LiNa Energy is helping the energy sector accelerate the transition to Net Zero, through our safer and more sustainable alternative to lithium ion. We are leading the charge to develop and commercialise low-cost solid state sodium batteries, with a focus on the renewable energy storage market.

How does Lina energy storage work?

On discharge, the sodium is oxidised back to sodium ions and travels through the conductive backbone, recrystallising in the cathode. LiNa's energy storage systems take a radical approach to thermal management, providing customers with low-cost and high performance energy storage even in high ambient temperatures.

What makes Lina batteries unique?

Materials are abundant and thanks to our patented design, our batteries are ideal for mass manufacture. LiNa's battery cells are the building block of LiNa Energy's battery platform. The cells utilise proven Sodium-Metal-Chloride chemistry in a breakthrough planar design made possible by our ultra-thin solid ceramic electrolyte.

The answer? Medium-duration storage that enables the shifting of excess solar energy into the evening and wind energy to the morning. LiNa batteries are optimised for this need - which existing technologies do not adequately serve ...

In amongst the hustle, the team couldn't help but have a bit of fun by leaving a sneaky easter egg ? - each member of Team LiNa Energy has a named cell within the latest modules. Deeptech is hard but it's so important to have some fun and enjoy these moments!

Earlier this year Will Tope spoke on a panel at the Energy Tech Summit in Bilbao, Spain.. He was on a panel discussing the future of solid-state batteries with Arfa Karani, PhD, Casper Peeters, Yan Zhu and Mike O'Kronley.. There were a couple of key issues that were discussed, which remain increasingly important right now
