Does Albioma have a power plant in Martinique?

Against the backdrop of the energy transition, this new facility, Galion 2, covers approximately 15% of the island's power needs, while also enabling the share of intermittent energy sources such as solar power to be increased. Alongside the Group's thermal biomass activity, Albioma operates a fleet of photovoltaic power plants in Martinique.

How much energy does Martinique generate?

In 2018, these installations supplied 17.6 GWh of renewable electricity to the Martinique network, representing nearly one quarter of all photovoltaic power generated on the island. As well as contributing to the regional energy transition, this output is set to increase by around 500 kWp in 2019, as new projects come onstream.

What is Albioma doing in Martinique?

Since 2007, Albioma's thermal biomass and photovoltaic businesses have been enhancing the energy independence of Martinique, which is not connected to mainland electrical networks. In Martinique, Albioma has built, commissioned and is now operating the Galion combustion turbine and the first all-biomass thermal power plant in Overseas France.

Martinique boasts of a fleet of solar power plants that supply clean energy to its grid. The most recent statistics show that the Island's installed solar capacity stood at 65 Megawatts at the end of 2018. Considering that the leadership of Martinique has intensified its renewable energy adoption efforts, this figure is most likely to have risen.

As of 2021, Martinique's electricity consumption heavily relies on fossil fuels, which account for more than three-quarters of its electricity mix. Low-carbon energy sources make up less than a third of the electricity used. Within the low-carbon segment, biofuels contribute almost 17%, solar energy around 6%, and wind energy about 3%. This substantial reliance on fossil fuels poses ...
