You'll need to add a solar battery storage device to your solar system if you'd like to use solar power at night or on overcast days. Storing solar energy and drawing on your battery's power until it's empty is a great way to increase your solar self-sufficiency and be less reliant on traditional energy sources.

Take the Maldives, for example. Each year, the Maldives spends over 10 percent of its GDP to import diesel to meet its energy needs, and its import bill consequently shot up last year. In 2020, the Maldives GDP contracted by 34 percent as the COVID-19 pandemic shut down its tourism industry- the main driver of economic growth.
