

Does Kazakhstan have solar power?

True, Kazakhstan has over 85 percent of Central Asia's total solar potential, according to a UN estimate. Yet Nazarbayev's ambition has been slow to meet reality: Four years later, Kazakhstan had only a modest 157 MW of installed solar capacity, about enough to power a small city. State capitalism in China then offered Kazakhstan a nudge.

Is Kazakhstan a good place to invest in solar power?

Kazakhstan has remarkable solar potential with a very well-designed auction system, a clear renewable capacity addition schedule, and a solid decarbonisation target. The country is now also including storage systems as part of its public procurement strategy in a move that will ease further integration of renewables into the grid.

Can solar power drive Kazakhstan's Energy Transition?

However, Kazakhstan's solar ambitions do not fully tap into its potential, and the technology could play a far larger role in the country's energy transition due to its low cost and flexibility. The focus now is on leveraging solar's comparative advantages to drive forward Kazakhstan's decarbonisation and harness its significant solar resources.

What is Kazakhstan's largest solar project?

Kazakhstan's largest solar project - a 100 MW field in Saran, Karaganda Province - was opened last year by a German company, also with EBRD backing. Russian engineers doubled capacity at the EBRD-backed Burnoye plant in Zhambyl in 2018.

Does Kazakhstan have a country Factsheet?

Specifically for Kazakhstan, a country factsheet has been elaborated, including the information on solar resource and PV power potential, country statistics, seasonal electricity generation variations, LCOE estimates and cross-correlation with the relevant socio-economic indicators.
